

Starting out—When is the right time to embrace new technology?

Spreadsheets and isolated software can only get you so far. As your business grows, selecting the right technology to support your business aspirations can provide you with the competitive edge to reach new heights.

Are your processes limiting your business success?

Use this 5 point checklist to identify if your current processes and technology are holding you back from achieving your business goals. Experiencing any of these issues could be a sign its time to think about an integrated business solution.

1. Do you rely on spreadsheets for key operations?

Excel is a fantastic tool but holding key information in spreadsheets can have its challenges as your business becomes more complex. Loss of data, corruption and limited insight can all slow you down.

4. Do you offer the best level of service to your customers?

Customers are growing to be more and more demanding, they expect on demand service. Do your systems streamline your processes to help excel at customer service? The right system enables service to improve through efficiencies, but also by freeing up your teams time to focus on the adding value to your customers experience, helping you to stand out from the competition.

2. Is getting to answers difficult and time consuming?

Knowing there is insight in the information you have, but not being able to get to it and use it for strategic decision making can be frustrating. The right business solution will surface the information that will enable you to make decisions on where to take your business next.

5. Do your teams complain about the current processes?

Your current ways of working could be putting additional pressure on your teams and making it harder for them to do their roles. A user-friendly system can empower people to be more productive and effective.

3. Do you have data in multiple systems?

If you have multiple systems that do not talk to each other there can be a lot of re-keying of data leading to time consuming tasks for individuals and errors in data. A business wide solution can provide seamless integration to allow data flow and remove that need for individuals to bridge the gaps.

So what next?

Adopting a fully integrated business solution can be the stepping stone between your business doing well and really reaching new heights. It is our job to ensure we understand your business aspirations and discover how our clothing and footwear specific solution can look after your requirements now and have the room to grow in the future.

Contact us to find out more and book a free business review:

Email: protex.marketing@datelgroup.com | Call: 01925 849000 | www.datelprotex.com/takefive